MONTANA'S CHIEF CITY.

Opportunities It Offers for Business Men and Workmen in Search of New Homes.
[Correspondence of THE SUNDAY HERALD.]

HELENA, MONT., Sept. 6.—I want to call the attention of the young men of Washington who are looking for an opening in the West to the magnificent opportunities offered by this region. Although endless columns have been written about the West and the Northwest, still there are comparatively few Eastern people who have a correct idea of the real facts. They do not seem to grasp the limitless possibilities held out by the great mineral and agricultural wealth of this region. They do not realize that here are towns and cities doubling their population every year, and that these towns are by no means the rough, raw, and gamble-ridden communities of the early days, but contain quite as large a percentage of respectable, orderly business men as many Eastern towns. I need offer no apologies for extravagant expressions, as it is beyond the limit of the English language to furnish a description of the great natural resources of this country. I shall first call attention in detail to the advantages offered by Helena to the business man, as well as to the men without whose mighty arm the world could not make such strides—the mechanic and daily laborer. This city is situated in a valley twelve miles in width and thirty to forty miles in length. It has less than twenty thousand population, and yet a larger bank surplus than the city of Washington. The deposits of one bank are no less than $4,000,000. It is reported that one dozen millionaires live on the West side, most of whom, if not all, were working for their daily bread twenty-five years ago. From Helena's rich soil $16,000,000 in gold was taken. That was a start. From the discovery of "Last Chance" gulch, with its fortune of yellow metal, Helena's advance in wealth has been steady and satisfactory. It is the supply point for the score of rich mining camps which surround it. But the largest mining camp in the world, is but a short distance away. Here it is that supplies are purchased. Here it is the banking is done. The product of one hundred mines first reach Helena before it is turned over to the commercial world. The centre of the great lumber interests of the Northwest is here. The products of a great agricultural region are brought to this city for distribution. The cattle kings of the Northwest are here, and this city is the base of their transactions.

For the business man this city offers wonderful inducements, as at present the trade of the city and the surrounding country is conducted by one or two houses in each of the distinctive lines of merchandise. Profits are in keeping with the high wages paid labor, and it is a fact that the "Dutchman's" 1 per cent. is not an overstatement of their daily profits. There is an especial chance in this city for dry goods, hats, and furs, men's and women's furnishings, and a grand opportunity for those good women who labor in dressmaking. For the mechanic it is not an infrequent thing to see advertisements posted here and there in such style as this, "Wanted 100 bricklayers," etc., etc., until the eye grows weary reading of these wants. The ordinary laborer can find $4 a day at his disposal. The branches that seem overcrowded here are those of a professional character. It is my counsel to any who desire fresh possibilities either in mechanical or mercantile life to look into the merits of this city. In conclusion of this first article let me say that if you are a man of Christian character there is in this city a grand opportunity to join hands with the good people, and rout out the dens of sin and vice that planted themselves long ago to wrench from the miner and pioneer their earnings paid for so dearly.

THE WHIPPING POST.

Nobby Negroes Take the Lash Without Wincing.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Sept. 20.—Three hundred spectators, among them some visitors from Philadelphia, witnessed the whippings at Newcastle to-day. Six negroes and two whites, for various larcenies, received from five to twenty lashes each. One of the negroes, George Cooper, came to the post wearing patent leather shoes and nobby trousers and took twenty lashes without exhibiting much uneasiness. Frank Stanton, white, after his twenty lashes, coolly drew a cigar from his pocket and lighted it. Besides the whippings, George Cooper, a colored burglar; J. Byus, colored, convicted of murderous assault, and Samuel Long, for forgery, each stood one hour in the pillory.

Struggle for Ireland's Rights.

OTTAWA, ONT., Sept. 20.—The Gladstone branch in this city of the Irish National Land League have adopted resolutions regretting the widespread distress now imminent in Ireland, and expressing the opinion that the action of the British government in arresting on flimsy charges two of the most illustrious leaders of the Irish people, John Dillon and William O'Brien, will only have the effect of stimulating the friends of Ireland throughout the world to greater activity in the struggle for Ireland's rights.

Enterprise Will Win.

Attention is called to the fall announcement of that enterprising firm of auctioneers, Ratcliffe, Darr & Co., who have opened up in this city many new features in their business for the benefit of their patrons, which shows conclusively that there was room for improvement in this time-honored profession, as in all the arts and sciences and trades of men. Their card explains thoroughly what they have to offer the public, and will no doubt be read with interest by the progressive readers of THE HERALD.

The Women's Press Association.

The W. N. P. A. held a regular business meeting on Friday evening in the ladies' parlor at Willard's Hotel. The attendance was quite large. Three new members were taken in, one being Mrs. Robey, editor of the Calumet, of Chicago. After the regular business was concluded Mrs. Mary E. Leggett read an entertaining paper on the recent trip to Boston by the association. It will appear in next Sunday's HERALD.

A Good Man Missing.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 20.—John H. Sering, a bookkeeper for Isaac Graveson, builder and contractor and proprietor of the Cincinnati Stone Works, is missing. Mr. Graveson was unable to say whether he had taken funds of his employer or not, for Sering had taken the bank-book and checks. The missing man is of good family, and was regarded as an unusually steady man.

Triumphal Entry by Italians.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The Italians of this city to-day celebrated the triumphal entry of the Italians into Rome on September 20, 1870. Fifty Italian societies took part in the festival.

Trying to End the Troubles.

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—The Bundesrath has summoned a conference of the opposing parties in the Canton of Ticino, with the view of effecting a compromise and putting an end to the present troubles.

BUENA VISTA

GRAND PUBLIC SALE OF LOTS AT BUENA VISTA, VA.

THE WEST BUENA VISTA LAND COMPANY,
ON SEPTEMBER 25, 1890,

At 11 o'clock A. M., will offer for sale from 150 to 200 LOTS. These lots lie on the west side of North River, which is crossed by an excellent highway bridge at this point; another one, also under contract, to be finished by October 15, reaching the same lots.

These lots are on smooth, level ground, and may be said to be in the heart of Buena Vista, being only two or three hundred yards from her largest industrial plants.

Buena Vista is without a doubt unsurpassed in her natural advantages for a large manufacturing city, and to-day stands without a rival in her rapid growth of population and money invested in manufacturing enterprises, having increased in population from 150 to over 2,000 people in the short space of eight months.

Almost within a stone's throw of these lots are located and in course of actual construction two manufacturing enterprises that will alone employ between 1,500 and 2,000 men.

They are certain to make money for those investing in them, and no such opportunity for profitable investments is likely to occur again in the history of town-building in the State of Virginia.

The enterprises already secured insures us a population of 10,000 people in twelve or fifteen months.

TERMS:

Lots amounting to sums of $500 and under will be sold on the following terms: One-third cash, balance in six and twelve months. Sums over $500, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, purchaser giving interest-bearing notes for the deferred payments, and securing the same by deed of trust on property purchased.

PARTIES PURCHASING PROPERTY WILL BE REFUNDED RAILROAD FARE.
